

Intersession Courses Winter 2007

CRAF 491a Introduction to Woodworking – 3 credits

Instructor: Maja Kinnemark

Three weeks (3 January – 23 January)

S, M, T, W, R

09:00 – 12:00

13:00 – 14:30

This workshop course will cover information about different types of wood and an introduction to the safe use of hand tools and hand machinery. Students will use different tools in the workshop, explore different techniques of joinery and build a wood object that contains joinery.

ENGL 291-I Topics: Indian Women Writers – 3 credits

Instructor: Vibhuti Patel

Three weeks (3 January – 23 January)

S, M, T, W, R

09:00-12:00

We will read selected short stories from these collections by some of the finest South Asian writers of modern fiction and through these stories, we will consider the situations of women in modern India and of immigrant women in the United States as representative of women everywhere. We will pay particular attention to a close reading of the text to examine the form of the short story as well as to improve reading skills. The course will entail daily reading and lively discussion. Vibhuti Patel is Assistant Editor at Newsweek International in New York.

Prerequisite: ENGL 101 and TOEFL score of 550 or higher

GDES 491 Topics: Inside Arabic Typography – 3 credits

Instructor: Mohamad Hamady

Three weeks (3 January – 23 January)

S, M, T, W, R

09:00 – 12:00

13:00 – 14:30

A journey into the body and spirit of Arabic typeface design with the objective of understanding the discipline, development and application of Arabic type design. The course is geared to enhance the elements of evaluation, creation and usage of Arabic type in both unilingual and bilingual environments.

Deadline for Intersession Registration: 16 November 2006

Fee Charges: QR 5,904 and are non-refundable

All fees should be paid by: 23 November 2006